- 40 photographers signed up to the website but we have 75 members on FB
- 650 photographs of over 40 events submitted to date
- Website being revised/re-written
- Phase II being launched this month
- Chris Steele-Perkins will be giving us some advice and guidance and he will be joining us for the second half of the meeting

THIS IS THE TOPIC FOR THE SECOND HALF OF THE MEETING

RO's Report: charitable causes

Report would not be complete without saying a little more about our work with Café Art and Kick-it-Out.

Neil and Mo Grieg have taught every other weekend through the year: others have helped at key points such as camera handouts and in Spitalfields market.

Julian Rouse has taken over the management of the Kick-it-Out photographers and continues to support events as requested.

These are both great causes and something of which we can all be proud.

RO's Report: ... and finally

Thank you all for your help and support in 2017.

Our aim has been to help you enjoy and improve your photography in the company of like-minded individuals and have fun!

We hope that amongst this varied programme there has been something for everyone.

RO's Plans and Ideas for 2018

RO's Report: Plans for 2018

Current Plans:

- Major focus on Celebrating London Project (next Agenda item)
- Continue with Micro-groups and Sub-groups:
 - Street, London Naturally and Bookworms
 - SE, SW and now North London
- Stage another London Region Exhibition
- Provide at least four Advisory Days (one per quarter) and continue the 'Preparation for A' and 'Preparation for L' Groups

RO's Report: Some thoughts and ideas for 2018

- Days out!

Last year we went to Brighton Pride and enjoyed a very successful day. We also arranged a special photographer's tour of the Highgate Cemeteries. Ideas put forward so far this year have been:

- A visit to the Lee Millar Archives and guided/curated tour of Farley's House and Gallery
- Photographers access to the Thai Temple in Wimbledon
- Maybe Brighton Pride again..

- Education and learning

- Further develop the "Zoe Whishaw" seminar series (Q2) and repeat the last series (Q4)
- Museum of London "London Nights" Photography – Curated Tour
- Photoshop and Lightroom Classes 1:1
- Anything which becomes available at the V&A!

RO's Report: Exhibitions and further ideas for 2018

- Exhibitions already planned:
 - The Elizabeth Line Project Exhibition – April in Greenwich
 - SW London: Exhibitions at the Putney Library in Jan/Feb and Aug/Sep plus and the Clapham Omnibus (Arts Centre and Café) in May
 - SE London: at the White Gallery (when it re-opens for the spring/summer season)
- At the Planning Stage
 - Display London Region 2017 Exhibition in other parts of London – an option is available at the Putney Arts Centre for the month of May
 - 2018 London Region Member's Exhibition in the Autumn
- At the planning/discussion stage
 - Possible workshops and (small) exhibitions at Woodberry Wetlands – an extension of LN programme and of particular interest to N London Group
 - Possible joint project with London Landscapes, to photograph some of London's garden squares normally closed to the public
- Talks with Keynote speakers – can be arranged, but support is essential!

RO's Report: Plans and ideas for next year

Two things to finish:

1. We are not mind-readers. Feedback is important to us:

- Tell us
 - What you like
 - What you don't like

And we will try to react accordingly

2. Please remember – resources are the major limiting factor on what we can do in the Region – so please step forward and lend a hand: whether it is a day occasionally, a few hours a month or by taking on a role/leading a group...
